This appears to bear out the contention of tax reduction advocates that the present high level of economic activity justifies the recent action of Congress in cutting taxes, in spite of President Truman's veto. It is likely that some of that activity is traceable to the tax cut.

Part of the record-breaking surplus now in prospectwhich may go as high as $7,500,000,000—will result from the fact that funds allocated for the European Recovery Program will not have been spent by the end of this fiscal year. They will be spent later, without any question, and it would be foolish to regard this as a real saving.

Plan Mid-Summer Session?

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4 .- As if their woes are not already manifold, the Democrats in Congress now suspect that their GOP rivals are cooking up a new trick by which to make a Republican victory doubly sure in November.

This trick—to use the term applied to it by Democrats—is for Republican leaders to call a post-Convention session of Congress for the purpose of legislating one or more features of the Republican

This would indeed be a new-fangled angle. Party platforms have always been considered as a sort of lovers' perjury at which Jove smiles and the people guffaw. Platform statements consist of broad, safe generalities which pay ingratiating compliments to minority groups and give bombastic assurance to the faithful. They are not meant to be taken too seriously. At least that has been the case in the past. But something about the sincerity of party leaders like Senator Taft and the political savvy of party strategists like Speaker Martin has got the Democrats disturbed. It would be both a gesture of good faith and a masterstroke of electioneering if the GOP returned from Philadelphia and used their majority in the historic 80th Congress a suit action to the platform words.

Professes Innocence

A Republican spokesman, who, however, professed innocence of previous knowledge, was good enough to tick off for me several measures which might appear both in the Republican platform and in

At the top of the list he placed an anti-Communist law. He was assuming, as is commonly done, that the Mundt Bill will not become law at the present session. Some other form of anti-sedition legislation (but not a registration bill) might be whipped together and passed without extensive hearings. This would boist the Republican standard for 100 per cent Americanism without offending some of the GOP liberals who have no use for the Mundt measure.

Another Possibility

Another possibility for a post-Convention session is the Bender anti-poll tax bill (already passed in the House) and the Case anti-lynch bill (on the House calendar). My informant put it this way: "We wouldn't have the nerve to ask for the Negroes' vote unless we give them something solid this time. They're fed up with promises—ours, Truman's and Wallace's."

A third possibility is a bill or a resolution on public power. Such a measure would be designed to woo Western votes and also to let nervous businessmen know just where the party stands on the future of private enterprise in the power industries. It would have to be a tight-rope walk, but leaders think it might be done.

A fourth possibility is a bill, carrying the disarming title of freedom-of-information, to enable Congress to get hold of things like the Condon file which Mr. Truman now regards as presidential property.

Other Matters

Other matters which might come before a post-Convention session would depend on who gets the nomination. If Vandenberg were named, Congress might come back and pass something related to the Vandenberg resolutions (S. Res. 239) for revising the United Nations Charter. If Taft were the candidate, Congress might return for the purpose of completing his housing-health-education program. This, however, would entail the risk of spending too much money in an election year. If Dewey were nominated, there is an outside chance of congressional action on the Ives fair practice bill—a model of the one being administrated by Dewey in New York.

Based On Guesswork

The foregoing discussion is necessarily based on some guesswork, but not on unfounded guesswork. The Republicans have strong reasons to inconvenience themselves to the extent of coming back to Washington's hot weather for extra work.

Biggest reason is that they hope and intend not just to win in November, but to win tremendously. They think they are on the threshold of a victory comparable to the Democratic triumph of 1936. Not that they expect to win 46 states. But they do look for steamroller majorities on Capitol Hill to match strong leadership in the White

Another reason for recessing next month instead of adjourning is that the Democrats have "last bat" in nominating a candidate. If the GOP nominated someone like Speaker Martin or Governor Warren in June and the Democrats nominated General Eisenhower in July, a mid-summer session would be almost a must.

The Parent Problem By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HOME TO MANY For some children the private boarding school is a haven of security. I'm thinking especially of the children of divorced parents. large percentage of children in most boarding school are from

Also deans of colleges, high school and grade school principals and teachers at all educational levels are becoming conscious of divorce in relation to the child at school or college. They and school psychologists are growing aware of the large number of problem children and youths whose parents are separated.

Now I have never been very enthusiastic about private schools in general. I believe the public schools school can be far superior for promoting democratic living. Yet I always have believed that some private schools have done some good things better than the average public school does them; that the private school may afford superior means for moral and religious education; that for certain types of children the private school of the proper kind may do more for personality development. In recent years I have been impressed with the possible contribu-tion of a good private school to the emotional security of the child who hasn't found this security at

It's a good idea to spray plenty of DDT around the house and porch, and if you live in the country, use it liberally in stables and barns. But, he added, also be sure that all windows are well screened. After all, DDT won't keep flies out of the house.

The usual advice to sun bathers is, "Keep out of the sun, and protect your head and face from direct rays of the sun." And as usual, most people will ignore or scoff at this bit of advice, and a few will acquire sunstroke, while several more will get nothing but a terrific dose of sunburn.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 4.—(INS)
—RCA announced today the production of a new 500-watt television transmitter while he will facilitate the extension of television to cities of 50,000 persons.

The transmitter will enable smaller stations to act as network outlets or to originate their own programs, RCA said.

In combination with a three-section, RCA super turnstile antenna, the transmitter can provide service to about 1,400 aquare miles. It can be instabled in one unit only 56 inches wide, according to RCA.

lots of calcimine lotion.

A deep brown may show off to advantage your new white bathing suit, but it will do your body no good, as far as absorbing healthy sun rays. A dark tan serves to protect the skin from further burn, and seals up the receptive tissues so that no further energy rays can enter the body.

Den'ts For Swimmers

Summer is always a grief to anxious parents whose children are swimming enthusiasts. The fundamental don'ts are, don't go in the water right after eating, don't go in when the body is overheated, and don't stay in too long, to risk tiring the body, or chilling. When your lips begin turning purple, swimming isn't fun any longer, it's a danger signal. Get out, and don't stay in that long next time, or there won't always be a next time.

Other Precautions Other summer precautions are, don't fool around with a three-leafed vine. It is probably poison ivy.

When taking a trip, don't drink water unless you know that it is

Be careful not to eat any food which has had a chance to get warm and spoil.

And last, but not least, get plenty of sleep in spite of D.S.T. You need it in summer as well as in winter.

Have You Ordered Your New Sesqui Hat Yet?

Here are some "models" wearing the Robin Hood hat, the official hat of the New Castle Sesquicentennial. The plaintiffs blame defective equipment for the accident.

The John and Mabel Ringling Memorial Museum of Art at Sarasota, Fla., was established by the late John Ringling. The museum and its art collection are valued at between $30,000,000 and $40.000,000. It was left to the state with the palatial home adjoining, with the provision that Florida would assume title upon the liquidation of the debts of the estate.

"The king will use either a private plane now in a hangar at the Geneva airport or a plane sent from Athens.

"The king's entourage wishes the people to be a little more discrete and to have more respect for what is purely a personal affair. The entourage begs the people to realize that there also is a question of personal security. Therefore the exact date of the marriage has not yet been published, but will be announced in due time."

Babson Discusses Land Values In United States

connection with land being bought on mortgage. They are very much opposed, at the present time, for farmers to buy land for which they cannot pay cash, believing that sooner or later a crash is coming, due to an inevitable decline in farm pirces. Of course, the ultimate value of a farm is whether or not it can raise crops which will pay a fair rate of interest on the land after all expenses, and this of course depends upon the price received, as well as the wages and other expenses which must be paid.

and other expenses which must be paid.

City and Town Property
The Federal Reserve Bank in Washington is especially disturbed at the continuous climb in mortgage loans on city and town property. This is probably due in part to the activity of the Federal loan and savings banks in soliciting mortgages. Certainly this should be curbed at the present time. It is wrong for mortgage loans on real estate to be climbing during a period in which business loans are dropping off steadily and are being reduced.

These Federal loan and savings banks must be careful not to be part of a vicious circle whereby someday the property, upon which they are now loaning and which leans are in part guaranteed by the government, will come back into the government's hands. If the government then adopts a policy of selling these houses at auction, the houses for which the veteran now pays $10,000 will be selling in the open market for $5,000 or even less. It is entirely possible that what happened to city and small town real estate in the 30's could easily repeat in the 50's.

Reasons For Being Cautious could easily repeat in the 50's.

Reasons For Being Cautious

There are four definite reasons which people should carefully consider before further bidding up prices for any kind of real estate.

These reasons are as follows:

(1) The upward trend in mortgage indebtedness, which in some prices. Readers are also disturbed by the chart which appeared on page 79 of Time Magazine for May 3 of this year.

What Are The Facts

The facts are that these big increases in land values are not the same in different sections of the country. Probably the farm values fairly near large cities are abnormally high. They are selling not on their value as producing farms, but on their speculative value for sub-divisions, etc. This also applies to pasture land near small cities. There seems to be an abnormal demand for "bottom land" which in many cases is selling far above a sensible price.

The special concern of the Agriculture Department, however, is in connection with land being bought on mortgage. They are very much opposed, at the present time, for made.

Of late years we have been using spun rayon. To make spun rayon, the filament rayon is cut up into small pieces. These short pieces are then spun into a thread which resembles wool, cotton, or linen. This made possible new kinds of materials which look like wool, cotton, and lines. They also feed more statement of the statemen ton, and linen. They also feel more like them as you handle them. Rayon flannel, gabardine, and butcher linen are examples.

The spun rayon can also be mixed or blended with the natural fibers, wool or cotton, by spinning clubs greeted the guests on this happy occasion.

Mrs. Elder Bryan, co-chairman of the International Institute department of the YWCA was in charge of the program. She introduced Judge W. Walter Braham, who congratulated the new citizens on their priveleges and also the responsibilities which they assume in becoming full citizens of the United States. Judge Braham also son were viewed in members' gardens Thursday afternoon by the Lawrence County Garden club.

The group assembled at 1:30 o'clock on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Robert W. Lamoree, Orchard way, where they viewed her garden and grounds, and then proceeded to the home of Mrs. Allen Urmson, Maitland lane, where in the garden, a border of numerous varieties of peonies and an abundance of other flowers were in perfection. Marietta, a large single white peony, was particularly lovely.

Visit Rose Garden

Proceeding to the Community Rose Garden opposite Jameson Memorial hospital, the club noted with pleasure the fine condition of the rose plants and beds in the park. The garden was started five years ago by the Lawrence County Garden club with just a few beds at first. More have been added and the garden is now expanded to a number of beds laid out in formal pattern. At the present time the rose bushes are just beginning to bloom and will be at their height during the next several weeks. Refreshments were later served by members of the Italian, Polish and Greek clubs of the Y.W.C.A., with Mrs. Alice Fusco, chairman, and Mrs. C. M. View Lovely Gardens Next the club viewed the lovely garden in the rear of the home of Mrs. J. Clyde Gilfillan, on Clenmore boulevard, then proceeded to the home of Mrs. W. Walter Braham on Hazelcroft avenue for a tour of the grounds, and continued on to the garden of Mrs. John Loudon on Englewood avenue. Here the iris in splendid large clumps were strikingly beautiful. Members of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hennon with 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Edward Butler, present

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK! June 4.—In this department's book, Harry Brecheen it only is the best southpaw in the National league, but also probably itter than any right-hander in the senior circuit.

The cat, who has won five out of six this season and boasts an red-run average smaller than a landlord's heart, proved to be a real paper last night. He held the improving Dodgers to four hits, beat em 4 to 1, and pulled the St. Louis Cardinals out of a six-game losing loss.

In fact, it commits its depredations in full view of the county's chief law enforcement officer and the city director. Several nights ago there was a gathering at the home of Councilman Dick Davis, East Leasure avenue. Around the hour of midnight Mr. Davis heard a noise in his rear yard and invited those assembled to see "my pet 'coon'." They left the house. Davis turned on the lights of his auto which pointed toward the garbage can. Sheriff Frank Coen played his fiashlight on the 'can', and lo, there was the 'coon'. It ambied six feet distant from the can, then gazed into the flood of light, then returned to the garbage can picked out what it wanted, then walked east, toward distant from the can, then gazed into the flood of light, then returned to the garbage can, picked out what it wanted, then walked east, toward The Narrows. . . Harry Sherman, given an alligator as a present some years ago, yet has the big "lizard". He has it confined in a pen. . "You can talk about your good rabbit dogs, your good bird dogs, but I once had a good groundhog dog" said Mayor John F. Haven. "If there was a groundhog, he knew it, and would get it. He would sit and watch and when he saw the groundhog, would creep toward it. If the groundhog looked in the direction of the dog, the latter would lie down to enable as little of his body as possible being seen. He always worked his way to a position between the animal and its hole. Whenever he thought he was in such a position, he would spring up." The mayor told of finding a young groundhog several days ago He held it in his right hand while he pat it with his left. The groundhog, though young in years, realized it had teeth. It bit the mayor on one of his fingers. He claims that a young groundhog can be trained to become as obedient as a dog.

(Seventh in a series spetlighting former Olympic champions and their deeds.) When Jack Medica, the Scattle, Wash., swim star, won his preliminary heat in the 400-meter free-style event in the 1936 Olympics in the slow time of 4 minutes, 55.9 seconds the chances of the United States winning the crown appeared poor. Shumpei Uto, one of the Japanese swimmers, had turned in a time of 4 minutes, 45.5 seconds in his heat. Medica's performance in the semi-final, however, boosted U. S. hopes, for the west coast ace swam a dead heat with another Jap competitor, Shozo Makino, in the time of 4 minutes, 48.2 seconds.

In the final Medica had to beat Uto to win. His time of 4 minutes, 44.5 seconds, shattered Uto's record.

Makino finished third, and Ralph Flanagan of Miami, Fla., was third, according to Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor.

Seven Of Eight Clubs Still In AL Flag Race

(International Series Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, June 4.—Any oracle who could predict the outcome of the 1948 American league race would be a swami indeed.

People either guffawed or raised polite eyebrows when Will Harridge, president of the junior circuit, predicted a tight race in nis lop in the usual pre-season blurp.

But as of today, no less than seven of the eight clubs still are in the running. Even the tail-end Chicago White Sox are no pushover, as the high-flying mad Macks of Philadelphia learned to their sorrow earlier in the week.

The Boston Red Sox, who in their seventh-place berth are ten full games off the pace, might seem at first glance to be hopelessly out of the running. But when you stop to analyze the recent performances of the erstwhile Bay State busts, they must be reckoned with seriously from now on.

Joe McCarthy, the baffled pilot of the Bosox, finally seems to have straightened out his pitching staff, which seemed to have gone haywire when the club shipped ace Tex Hughson to the minors for rehabilitation.

Jack Kramer, Ellis Kinder, Joe
Dobson and Mickey Harris all have Dobson and Mickey Harris all have turned in bang-up performances in their lastest outings. With four first-line flingers at top form, and Ted Williams leading the league in hitting by 34 points and near the top in other offensive performances, McCarthy finally has hit his stride.

In this connection, it is noteworthy that Boston's much-criti-

In this connection, it is note-worthy that Boston's much-criti-cized purchases from the St. Louis Browns are paying off at long last, the two K's, Kramer and Kinder, represent a healthy hunk of that tremendous outlay of cabbage made by the Sox last winter.

Currently, Cleveland and the amazing Athletics remain practic-ally deadlocked for the league. Indians may have fortified the indians may have fortified themselves by acquiring outfielder Bob Kennedy in a trade with the Chicago White Sox. The A's have been doing right well with their bargain basement pitching staff, but have yet to prove their staying powers over a long stratch.

ing powers over a long stretch.

The Yankees should be the solid favorites but may be handicapped too much by the loss of Charley Keller and Frank Shea.

Keller, the banging and banged-up outfielder, is out for a month. Shea, a brilliant pitcher, is side lined as a result of acquiring an infected toenail by wearing a pair.
